The Embassy and Consular posts have submitted extensive reporting on the application of Article 10 of the Ato Institucional. During the period from April 9, 1964 through June 15, 1964, 378 Brazilians had elective mandates cancelled and/or political rights suspended for a period of ten years under the terms of this Article. The present airgram represents a summation of this action. Enclosure (1) is an alphabetized listing of persons punished under Article 10.

As will be noted, some attempt has been made to determine the reasons behind the action against individuals. In this connection several factors must be borne in mind: (1) With the exception of the May 30 decree dealing with eight persons from Goia, the GOB did not publish the charges against the individuals at the time of the Article 10 sanctions. The information contained in this and other reports is thus based on subsequently revealed charges and/or on information developed through other sources. (2) The apparent reasoning behind some of the actions may not, in all cases, agree with our evaluation of the individual. A prime example is the case of Celso Furtado. Many Brazilians loosely classify him as a "communist". Undoubtedly the GOB action against him was based on the conviction that he had collaborated too closely with the "subversive left" during the Goulart regime. Thus the presumed reasons listed should be regarded primarily as the not-completely-verified justification from the Brazilian point of view. (3) In some cases, the individual concerned is so obscure that even post-revolutionary speculation has shed little, if any, light on why action was taken. (4) In many cases, the Article 10 sanctions were levied for a variety of reasons which cut across the categories established in this report: e.g. Kubitschek was charged with massive speculation and dalliance with the "subversive left"; the final decision to cancel his mandate and suspend his political rights was obviously based on overall political expediency.

The whereabouts of many of those sanctioned under Article 10 is not definitely known, although the majority of them remain free within Brazil. In cases in which the individual left for exile under safe-conduct, this information is included in Enclosure (1). The immediate destination is shown, although some persons are known to have now reached other destinations (e.g. Samuel Walner who went first to Chile and thence to Paris). Some other prominent exiles who did not leave under safe-conduct are also noted. Finally, those persons known to be under arrest at the time of this report are so indicated.

Below is a tabulation of presumed primary reasons for Article 10 actions:

Reason	No. of Individuals	Percentage of total
Known or suspected member of Communist Party (PCB or CPB)	115	30.4
Collaborated materially with "subversive left"	183	49.8
Flagrant dishonesty or corruption	33	8.7
*General Political Expediency	3	0.8
Reason unknown at this time	39	10.3
Totals	378	100.00

*Specifically, ex-Presidents Goulart, Kubitschek and Quadros.

The Embassy wishes to thank the consulates for the fine reporting which was done in relation to this aspect of the revolution. Further information developed will be appreciated, especially in relation to those individuals about which little if anything is known. However, unless events dictate otherwise, this will be the final report devoted specifically to this topic.

For the Ambassador:

The apparent reasons for action under Article 10 of the Ata Institucional are keyed in this enclosure to the following code:

1. The individual concerned was a known or suspected member of the Communist party (either PCB or CPB).
2. The individual collaborated materially with the "subversive left" during the Goulart regime through such organizations as the General Workers' Command (CGT), Nationalist Parliamentary Front (FNP), Popular Mobilization Front (FMP), etc.
3. The individual is believed to have been flagrantly dishonest or corrupt.
4. The sanctions were applied for reasons of general political expediency (specifically, the three ex-presidents Quadros, Kubitschek and Goulart).
5. The reasons for the action are unknown to us at this time.

The following notes pertain to the "Remarks" column:

- NOTE 1: Left for exile in country indicated after having received safe-conduct.
- NOTE 2: In exile where noted; did not leave under safe-conduct.
- NOTE 3: Reliably reported to be in prison at time of this report.
- NOTE 4: In asylum at Uruguayan Embassy awaiting safe-conduct to leave country.
